Great is knowing my every day is protected with up to S$3* million.

Common activities like weekend shopping with family, after-work dinners with friends, commuting to work, or even preparing a simple meal at home, are things we expect to do with little disruption. However, these activities can be affected when mishaps happen, often when you least expect them.

If a severe disability occurs after an accident, you may need to receive long-term rehabilitation and/or to stop work during that period of time. Having a comprehensive personal accident plan gives you the additional financial support to sustain the long-term and hefty medical bills that will accumulate.
