How Andrew's salary is protected with a Financial Lifeline

Andrew was an outdoor sales executive, earning S$6,000 a month. He is covered under Pay Assure for S$4,500 to match his monthly family commitments.

At age 40, Andrew lost his job due to a spinal disorder as he was unable to perform the main tasks required of an outdoor salesperson.

Cover for lost income due to inability to work in own occupation

Fortunately, Andrew was able to rely on the monthly income benefit from Pay Assure to replace his lost income. He was also reimbursed up to S$13,500 for rehabilitation expenses.

Reduced income supplemented upon return to work in a related occupation

Andrew began work as an indoor telemarketer a year later at a reduced salary. Pay Assure pays him a partial monthly income benefit to supplement his current income. He will continue to receive this partial benefit during the benefit period as long as he is not able to return to the occupation he held prior to his disability.

¹ Plan will be terminated when Life Assured is unemployed for 730 days, unless he is receiving the monthly income benefit.

² This average is determined based on your earnings over the last 24 months for salaried employees and 36 months for self-employed at the time of application.

TAKE NOTE OF YOUR FINANCIAL COMMITMENTS

Mortgage payments, children's school fees, grocery bills ...monthly financial commitments continue to grow. A survey by the Department of Statistics has shown that the average monthly household income expenditure in Singapore was S$3,764 in 2008*. Assuming an average inflation rate of 3.5% per annum in Singapore, this figure is expected to be S$4,789 in 2015! Even with a regular income, staying on top of bills requires careful planning.

So how would you cope should you unexpectedly find yourself unable to work due to an illness or injury? Pay Assure covers up to 75% of your average monthly salary† and even supplements your income if you return to work in a reduced capacity‡.

It is usually detrimental to replace an existing accident and health plan with a new one. A penalty may be imposed for early plan termination and the new plan may cost more or have fewer benefits at the same cost. In case of discrepancy between the English and the Chinese versions of the brochure, the English version shall prevail.

This plan is protected under the Policy Owners' Protection Scheme, which is administered by the Singapore Deposit Insurance Corporation (SDIC).
